

Jen Silva Bio:

Jen Silva is the Director of External Relations for the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP). She oversees NASSP's Policy and Advocacy, Development, and Partnerships representing school and student leaders across the 50 states. She resides in Naples, FL and brings 25 years of experience in the education administration and government relations sectors.

She previously served as the Director of Fund Development for the Jacksonville Public Education Fund where she managed K-12 government relations, grants and resources, and communications and marketing. Jen has served as Chief Advancement Officer for Head Start of North and Central Florida and worked extensively as an executive team higher education administrator for Edward Waters University, Florida State College at Jacksonville, and Columbia University. For over a decade, Jen also served as Senior Policy Advisor & Finance Director in the Office of Congresswoman Grace F. Napolitano, Washington, DC.